

Elementary

Today we are going to revise some of the idioms we have learnt in September and October.
Ma át fogunk ismételni néhány olyan idiómát, amit szeptemberben és októberben tanultunk.

Find the places where you could put these idioms, and rewrite the text using the idioms from the list.

Keresd meg azokat a helyeket, ahova ezeket az idiómákat beteheted, és írd át a szöveget úgy, hogy a listán szereplő idiómákat használod.

MAKE FRIENDS WITH SOMEONE / TAKE SOMEONE SERIOUSLY /
JUMP OUT OF YOUR SKIN / PENFRIENDS / OVER AND OVER AGAIN /
THINK THE WORLD OF SOMEONE / HAVE TIME TO KILL

Sam was a very shy person. He didn't go out because he didn't like meeting new people, and he didn't enjoy talking with others, so it was very difficult, or even impossible for him to start a new friendship. Maybe that's why he had a lot of free time. But he used his free time in a very clever way: he read a lot of books. He had a lot of favourite books and read them many times. However, after a while, he became fed up with being alone all the time, and decided to talk with people. He surfed the Internet, and found a lot of people with whom he started writing and getting letters. This way, he had four friends, and these people were very important to him. He always answered their letters immediately, and listened carefully to them, so his new friends liked him very much. There was one girl among them, and she loved Sam a lot because she found him very honest, intelligent, sensitive and kind, so she admired him very much. However, Sam was still too shy to start anything, so the girl decided to visit him, and tell him about her feelings. So one day while Sam was writing an e-mail, there was a knock on the door. Sam opened it, and there was the girl with a bunch of flowers and an engagement ring. When Sam discovered why she came, he was extremely happy.

Intermediate

Today we are going to revise some of the idioms we have learnt in September and October.

Rewrite the text using the idioms from the list.

FAIR-WEATHER FRIEND / IN EVERY NOOK AND CRANNY /
A WASTE OF SPACE / HAVE FRIENDS IN HIGH PLACES /
STRIKE A RAW NERVE / BE IN A RUT / STEAL SOMEONE BLIND

Jim used to be a very successful and influential person, however, some time ago, everything changed. While he was rich and lives in a luxurious villa, he had a lot of friends. They always came and visit him, and so there were people everywhere in his home. Unfortunately, he was not wise enough to realise their real intentions. They were only friends when things were great and only wanted someone who is in a very influential position in case they get into trouble and need someone to help them get out of it. All in all, they were all very useless people who just wanted to prey on someone. One day two of them went up to Jim, and told him their sad stories about their sick children and hard lives. As Jim was very sensitive, he started crying and promised them a huge amount of money just to enable them to get their kids cured. However, somehow these two men stole everything from him, and he became very poor, and even homeless. Since then, if you mention friends to him, he gets rather upset about this topic.

Advanced

Today we are going to revise some of the idioms we have learnt in September and October.

A FRIEND OF SOMETHING / WITHOUT A SECOND THOUGHT /
A FRIEND AT COURT / BE AT SIXES AND SEVENS / CUT THE ATMOSPHERE WITH A KNIFE /
BE ON PINS AND NEEDLE ABOUT SOMETHING /
GREASE SOMEONE'S PALM

Rewrite the text using the idioms from the list.

Kate had always supported the environment, and no matter what had to be done, she did it without considering it for long. However, once she went too far. She heard about a protest to be organised to protect whales, and she made up her mind to participate actively in the protest. The day before the protest she got so excited about it that she decided to go there at night, and start the protest all alone. Despite the fact that she was alone, she made more fuss than a hundred people would have done. She painted the walls of the factories red and broke their windows, and wrote 'Protect the whales, kill the huge factories' everywhere. As a consequence of her action, she was handcuffed and taken to court. On the day of her trial, everyone was very tense in the courtroom. Both the judge and the jury were very confused about her behaviour, as she had always been considered an intelligent and nice woman. Hardly had the trial began when they dropped the case as she was thought to have gone mad. Everyone in town was very much surprised about the outcome, and even supposed that she had an influential friend in a high position and she had given him money to get him help her out of the trouble. Despite all these, she was allowed to leave on condition that she never takes part in any kind of protest.